

Neurorehabilitation Team at VCU Health Neuroscience, Orthopaedic and Wellness Center

VCU Health NOW Center rehabilitation clinic has three fullW time physical therapists and one fullW time occupational therapist specializing in neurorehabilitation. Three therapists are certified in Lee Silverman Voice Training (LSVT) BIG protocol for Parkinson Disease and two therapists are neurologic certified specialists. We have a wide variety of innovative technology and equipment to meet the complex needs of those living with Parkinson Disease, including functional electrical stimulation, Zero G gait and balance system, and the Neurocom Balance Master. We also offer customized wheelchair seating and positioning services. Beginning in June 2016, our clinic will offer comprehensive physical, occupational, and speech therapy services.

Stephanie Ross, Physical Therapist

Tracy Provost, Physical Therapist

Mary Beth O'Reilly, Physical Therapist

Kate Roberts, Occupational Therapist